A report of the discovery of tyrotoxicon in cheese will be found in Zeitschrift fiim physiologische Ohemie, B. X, Heft 2; also in the Annual Report of the Jlfichigom State Board of Health for the year 1885. Last November a student brought to me a four ounce bottle partly filled with milk which had stood tightly closed with a glass stopper for about six months. From this I succeeded in isolating the same poison. It was recognised by its crystalline appearance and by its effect upon myself. It was presumed that this milk was normal in composition when first obtained; but of this we could not be certain. I Submitted to the Michigan State Board of Health. I then put several gallons of normal milk in perfectly clean...
